Glenn & Sons, grocers of this city, visited New Orleans, last week, with a view of making his neual full purchases of sugar and molasses, but upon landing, was met by some of his friends who informed him that a secret organization existed in the city, whose Secretary kept a record of all the merchants who habitually resort to New Orleans, and that the politics of all were known; that his arrival had been announced, and that if he valued his safety, he had better return, an advice he fellowed, as he is an old man, and did not desire to encounter such treatment as he evidently would have received. He reports that the excitement over the election of Lincola is great in the city; that blue cockades are plenty; that the secession sgitation has depreciated the value of cotton, of sugar, of rice, and of negroes; and that the more these articles depreciate, the more intense the sgitation becomes; and the more intense the agitation, the more they depreciate. Every evil that has fallen upon them—the shortness of the cotton and sugar crops, the frosts and the freshets—all are attributed to the alection of Lincoln.

Twenty-fifth Annual Report of the Young Men's Hible Society Finances of the Institution Addresses Election of Officers.

The Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Young Men's Rible Society was celebrated last evening at the Second Presbyterian Church. The exercises were opened by the Rev. Dr. Thompson, with prayer. The choir of the church then sang a lynn, after which the Corresponding Secretary submitted his annual report, from which we make the following extracts:

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SECRETARY. During the past year the Society has endeavored to discharge its regular duties, without undertaking any new enterprises of importance. The very thorough exploration of the city and county during the year 1859, the complete distribution of the Rible in our public institutions, under the personal direction of the Managers, rendered similar labors unnecessary, besides economy bad been rendered necessary by the condition of the Society's finances.

The managers have, however, been prepared to respond to all applications from individuals, or public institutions, for copies of the Scriptures, and with heartfelt gratitude to the Giver of all good, for the oppor-

of the Scriptures, and with heartfelt gratitude to the Giver of all good, for the opportunity of thus laboring in His cause, and for the blessing they have reason to hope has attended these efforts, they invite your attention to a brief review of their proceedings under the customary heads of Finance, Depository and Distribution.

From November 1, 1859, to November 1, 1860, a period of one year, 2,635 Bibles and 16,342 Testaments have been solf at cost, and 721 Bibles and 1,319 Testaments have been donated from the Depository, making the number of volumes issued during the year 21,018, and swelling the aggregate number of copies of the Word of God issued since the organization of the Society to 240,391.
The stock on hand at the passent time ounsists of 1,328 Bibles and 4,008 Testaments, valued at $1,186.66.

aists of 1,328 Bibles and 4,008 Testamonts, valued at $1.186 66.

The donations include 186 Bibles and 127 Testaments to destitute individuals on application personally, or through their friends at the Depository; 1,052 Testaments to different Sabbath-schools in this county; 11 large and handsome Bibles to steamboats; 175 Bibles to the classes of the Young Men's Christian Union; 130 Bibles to the House of Refuse, besides a great number of others to Refuge, besides a great number of others to institutions of less magnitude.

The various committees of the Board of Managers—on the County Jail, City Prison, House of Refuge, Widows' Home, the Cin-cinnati, the German Protestant and the Col-

House of Refuge, Widows Home, the Cincionati, the German Protestant and the Colored Orphan Asyloms, the Court-house, United States Gourt-room, Police Court, the offices of the Justices, the Station-houses, Hotels, the Hospitals, Home of the Priendies, the Rallroad Depots—have visited personally their respective fields of labor, and have furnished such additional copies of the Scriptures as were needed in complete the distribution of the previous year.

By an arrangement made early in the year with the Bible Association, a supply of Eibles and Testaments was placed at the disposal of this organization, for distribution at the wharve, and to the destitute within their sphere of labor.

For several months A. J. Levi labored successfully in the distribution of the Bible in destitute portions of the city, but in consequence of the recent thorough exploration of the city, it was not thought desirable to enter so soon again upon the work to any considerable extent. In this connection, the Board take great pleasure in referring to the steady and indictous operations of the Society of Friends. The last annual report announced the organization of a Bible Association in this honored fraternity of Christians, and their hearty co-operation with us as an auxiliary to this Society. At their own request a portion of the city was assigned them as a field of labor, which they at once divided among their volunteer contributors, who entered rigorously upon the work.

Rev. Samuel Scott, to whose care the exploration of Hamilton Country has tributors, who entered rigorously upon the work.

Rev. Samuel Scott, to whose care the exploration of Hamilton County has been committed, has regularly discharged his dutien the past year.

It would be improper to conclude this report without adversing to the fact, that this anniversary is an epoch in our history. Twenty-five years have clapsed since the organization of the Young iten's Bible Society of Cincinnati. In the spring of 1834, under the Presidency of Hon. Salmon P. Chase, the Society commenced its labors with a real and energy well worthy of our intentions, and its good results have been apparent ever since.

The receipts and expenditures of the year have been as follows:

The following Committee to nominate officers and managers for the ensuing year: Samuel Lowry, Thos. Finch, J. W. Shipiey, F. A. Waldo and Dr. Judkins.
On motion of Dr. Thompson, the formal addresses were dispensed with till such time as the Executive Committee should designate.

as the Executive Committee should designate.

Some remarks were then made by Dr. Waldo, with reference to the early foundation of the society, and the unexpectedly rapid progress it had made within a quarter of a century.

Rev. Kingston Goddard was then called upon, and made a few remarks on the importance of distributing the Bible to the heathen. It was a diagrace, he said, for any man—even the laborer who carms $1 per day—to go down to the grave without having enrolled his name among the lifemembers of a Bible Society, by paying down the sum of $20.

having enrolled his name among the lifemembers of a Bible Society, by paying down

Other gentlemen followed, and occupied

LETTERS like the following, from Rev. A. Duncan, Newark, Olsio, are daily coming from all parts of the country:

"It is now about one year since I purchased, for the use of my family, one of Grover & Baker's Family Sewing-machines. Having given it a fair trial, I can say that, for simplicity, noiselessness, facility of thosement, and durability, I do not see how It can be surpassed, and so small is the power needed to operate it, that a child with the strength ordinarily possessed at eight, has ample ability for the task.

"It will give me great pleasure to recommend my friends aho may want a sewing-machine, to go and do as I have done—purchase a Family Grover & Baker.

Tax temples devoted to dramatic entertain ment were not, denotices in consequence of the inclemency of the weather, over-crowded last evening—the andiences being rather se-lect than multitudinous. An estimate of the lect than multitudinous. An estimate of the minibers is therefore unnecessary. The performances were somewhat deficient in spirit—a thing not to be wondered at, considering the narrow receipts of the several treasuries, and the absence of those enthusiastic crowds by which the actors are greated in general. COMMON PLEAS. ARGUNEST OF THE MURBER TRIAL.—The State vs. Patrick McHugh.

Mrs. Rooke testified that at the time the prisoner walked down to the house of Mrs. McCann she did not think he was drunk. James Bally saw him on that morning be was not drunk; he drank with him in a gro-sery that day; and at Mrs. McCann's a pint of whisky was sent for, some of which was drank by the prisoner. Dr. Beck saw the prisoner in the station house; noticed no incipient marks of delium tremens.

Wm. Grogan, policeman, testified that he saw him next morning and did not notice any sign of delicam-tremena. The defense called Drs. Quinn, Langdon

The defease called Drs. Quinn, Langden and Mount. Supposed cases were put to the witnesses by Mr. McGroarty, from which the witnesses supposed insanity might be inforred if the supposed facts stood without any explanation. On cross-examination by Mr. Kerr, another state of facts was given, as an hypothesis, and an opinion asked from them, the answer was the other way, namely; that insanity was not to be presumed therethat insanity was not to be presumed therefrom.

Mr. Kerr opened the argument for the State, claiming, in a forcible address, that the evidence plainly showed that he was laboring neither under homicidal mania nor delirium-tremena and that being the case, the deliberation and premeditation made out a case of munder in the first degree.

Mr. P. McGroarty followed on behalf of the prisoner, his line of sefense being principally that McHugb, when he committed the deed, was laboring under homicidal mania.

SUPERIOR COURT.
Osksmp es. Reid.—This case was tried before Judge Storer. A petition to set aside a conveyance from husband to wife, alleged to have been fraudulent as to creditors. Verdict for plaintiff.

The Pariabs of India and of Paris.

A late French paper remarks: There is in India a class—the fifth—which There is in India a class—the fifth—which is the scern of all theothers. So Brama has willed. Those who compose it are they who exercise the vilest of employments. Entrance to the temples and the public squares is prohibited them. They have no other nournalment than the dead bodies of animals, and are not even permitted the use of the common wells. Their habitations are in the outskirts of cities, and they can not hold property. If one of them touches a person not of his tribe, his life is forfeited. Such is the fate of these unfortunates on the coast of Coromandel, under the name of Pariabs. the fate of these unfortunates on the coast of Coromandel, under the name of Pariahs. Our European civilization, more generous and more Christina, Coes not possess these refinements of ostracism; but in all great eities, in Paris especially, are there not many Pariahs? In that immense city, where tears and joy reign in like proportion, where glory and shame are sisters, are there not some dishherited beings who are deprived of all sympathy? I do not seek to make you pity the fate of those poor creatures, devoid of all moral sense. I speak of those who, to gain bread, fill necessary but most unpleasant employments.

In 1842, the cholera made its last and terrible appearance in Paris. Walking one day rible appearance in Paris. Walking one day in the vast hall of the Pas Perdus, I mounted mechanically the twelve stone steps, and found myself in the court-room. A man had committed the enormous crime of sleeping in the open air, and was on examination therefor.

therefor "Accused," said the President, "what have "Accused," said the President, what have you to say in your defense?"
"With your permission, my President, I will tell you the truth; for I do not know how to lie, and have never invented any thing, as true as it is daylight now, fand as true as that you have an excellent figure for a ludge."

"Yes, my President. I was often sick, and as I couldn't work then, I found difficulty in obtaining work. Happily, this devilish cholera broke out, and one of my old comrades who was employed in the business, and to use, 'I you wish, now's the time; there's money to be made.' I answered that I was willing, and employed myself in barying the rapidly dying corpses. As I couldn't find people to give me a lodging on account of my business, I was obliged to sleep out of doors."

He was fined a franc. Those of his class were and are shunned and avoided by all. Where are their pleasures? They have none. They live and die single, for what woman would give her heart, her youth, and entire life to one like him?

And who is the man that, toiling amid death, at every step does not become colder than marble and petrified in indifference? A Pariah of social life, he supports his condition because he does not understand it and happilly for him!. He looks with equal unconcern upon the dead body of the new born babe which its frantic mother is covering with kisses, and the corpse of the old man which three generations follow with tears. How to call this philosophical coolness which seems so frightful to us? Is it cynicism or skepticism?

You see the funeral of a young girl and

You see the funeral of a young girl and you weep, but the man who buries bodies doesn't understand your grief young or old, rich or poor, all are alike to him. rich or poor, all are alike to him.

I have observed a simple physiological fact in regard to this style of man—he always smokes. When at the door of a house, he waitathe departure of a funeral, he is contemplatively absorbed in the pleasures of his pipe. For the rest he is always sober, and attentive to his duty. Were he a drunkard, Government would not allow him to follow his pursuit. To prove this, I will tell you of the celebrated Bidoche, whom all Paris knew.

You may ask me if these unfortunates have no Sunday, no day of rest or recreation, no vacation. They have one—the 2d of November, the day of the Fete des Morts, when all work is suspended from noon till the anoon of the naxt day. Then Government gives them a disnor in a little cabaret on the Boulsvard Mendmontant. They talk, sing, cat, drink and enjoy themselves, and the next day return to their labor.
